LETTERS OF APPLICATION AND RECOMMENDATION DURING THE ADMINISTRATIONS OF FRANKLIN PIERCE AND JAMES BUCHANAN
1853-1861

The Department of State series of Letters of Application and Recommendation for Appointment to Public Office, 1791-1901, is arranged in segments that correspond approximately to Presidential administrations. On the 50 rolls of this microfilm publication are reproduced the letters from the series for the administrations of Franklin Pierce and James Buchanan, 1853-61. The letters are arranged in alphabetical order by surname of the applicant or person recommended and thereunder chronologically.

The requests for appointment relate to almost every type of Federal office, including positions in the judiciary, Territorial governments, and the diplomatic and consular service. Recommendations were received from Members of Congress, officials of State and local governments, political supporters, and friends of the various applicants.

In the 1850's the Democratic Party was deeply divided over the possible extension of slavery into the Western Territories. President Pierce attempted to restore party harmony by giving positions to members of every faction and by balancing the geographic distribution of appointments. The President's private secretary, Sidney Webster, reviewed thousands of applicants, and Pierce met with his Cabinet daily during the first months of his administration to decide on appointments. By midsummer of 1853 more than 700 officeholders appointed under the previous Whig administration had been replaced by Democrats.

In 1857 Pierce was succeeded as President by another Democrat, James Buchanan. This limited the number of positions available to Buchanan for patronage because removing Pierce's Democratic appointees would have disrupted the party. However, Buchanan was able to fill many positions during his 4 years in office and attempted to strengthen the Democratic Party by appointing men who favored the retention of the Union and held moderate views on slavery. Unlike Pierce, Buchanan refused to grant appointments to members of factions that he considered extremist.

The letters of application and recommendation were in the custody of the Clerk of Appointments and Commissions until 1870 and then, successively, of the Bureau of Pardons and Commissions, 1870-95, the Appointment Clerk, 1895-98, the Bureau of Appointments, 1898-1924, and the Appointment Section of the Chief Clerk's Office from 1924 until January 11, 1939, when they were transferred to the National Archives.

The records are part of General Records of the Department of State, Record Group 59. In the same record group are other documents relating to appointments to public office, including oaths of office, attested copies of confirmation and rejection by the Senate, copies of commissions, and resignations and declinations of appointments.

Additional records in the National Archives of the United States relating to appointments during the Pierce and Buchanan administrations are in Records of the Office of the Secretary of War, Record Group 107; Records of the Adjutant General's Office, 1780's-1917. Record Group 94; General Records of the Department of Justice, Record Group 60; Records of the Post Office Department, Record Group 28; General Records of the Department of the Treasury, Record Group 56; and Records of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, Record Group 48.

The records reproduced in this microfilm publication were prepared for filming by George Brent, Connie Martin, and Evelyn Tobias. The introductory remarks were written by Kent Carter.

INDEX

Each entry gives the name of the applicant, appropriate cross-references to other applicants, the date span of documents and their enclosures, and the number of documents that contain a reference to the applicant. A few of the entries are names of official positions or geographical places rather than names of individuals. The only position or place-names included are those for which there are separate files among the letters of application and recommendation. The term "document" refers to an individual letter with no enclosures or to a letter of transmittal with its enclosures. The names of all applicants and office-holders are listed; the names of persons who wrote letters of endorsement and comment are not listed except when names of applicants could not be determined. Some files include documents dated before or after the exact dates of the Pierce and Buchanan administrations.

Examples of cross-references are:

1. Appleby, William I. See Young, Brigham
Signifies that all material referring to William I. Appleby is under the name Brigham Young.
2. Adams, James Picket. See also Calhoun, William Ransom
Signifies that, in addition to the material filed under the name of James Picket Adams, there are references to him under the name of William Ransom Calhoun.
